N A M I N G H A L L S

One of our character education team leaders and school counselor, Ms. Hernandez-Bouza, has begun the task of naming the hallways of our building each with a character trait. With the expertise and guidance of our art teacher, Ms. Albalat, respect, integrity, loyalty, responsibility, cooperation, perseverance, love and compassion are just some of the qualities that will be proudly displayed in our halls.

Some of the signs which will be proudly displayed are: Calle de Amistad, Be Happy or Else Exit, Be Green Not Mean, Save Our Mother Earth, Hate is Easy Love Takes Courage, Attitude Avenue.

Honor System

Mr. Tio, one of our excellent math teachers, taught his students the honor system by letting them grade their own math tests.

Job Interview

Ms. Johnson, one of our highly qualified language arts teacher is doing a job interview project with her students where one of the interview questions is what core value do you possess for this position.

Classroom Spirit

Ms. Epstein, one of our most upbeat and spirited science teachers has decorated her room with posters of good character traits to show her students.

Project Respect

With the guidance of our school counselor, Ms. Hernandez-Bouza, and the dedication of our media specialist, Ms. Maier, Project Respect has taken character education to another level. Students research quotes, which are selected by the students for the students. From left to right the participants' names are: Michael Ivory, Michelle Chaviano and Wendy Serra.

Project Respect Students
